7:35 MINICLASS

Back Porch Gardening — In the October 1986 Ensign, President Ezra Taft Benson wrote, “In general, the more food we eat in its natural state—without additives—and the less it is refined, the healthier it will be for us.” We need not have a huge back yard garden to begin practicing this principle. Come to this hands-on workshop to find out what you can do with a little potting soil, a back porch, or even a free windowsill! (Bev King, Cambridge 1st Ward)

8:05 MINICLASSES Choose one of the following:

Creative Pillow Making — There is nothing like a comfy pillow behind the back to set a visitor at ease. . . nothing like just the right pillow showpiece on the sofa to make the living room feel complete. . . nothing like a pillow personalized for a child to become a bedtime treasure. Pillows can express so many different things—including your own creativity! And you don’t need to buy expensive decorator pillows when you can make them yourself. Using these extra easy instructions, you can create beautiful pillows from the very first attempt. (Meagan Johnson)

Organizing and De-Junking Your Life — Clutter and junk waste your time and energy. They make every job take longer, because you’ve got to sift through what you’ve got to get at what you want. They make cleaning take longer, because there’s more to clean around, under, and on top of. They waste money, because it’s so expensive to store, transport, and care for all of your excess stuff. And then there’s the emotional waste of worrying about so much stuff. Your junk ties you down -- away from adventure, affection, and accomplishment -- and you can’t go when and where you want to. Come learn how to lose 200 pounds this weekend! (Michelle Gatlin)
